Compliance Sheriff Features:

Scan the way your user sees your content: render and scan for different browsers, devices, orientations, and resolutions.

Assure compliance with federal and international accessibility guidelines to reduce the risk of litigation and penalties.

Increase site usage by making all of your web properties accessible to people with disabilities (WCAG, Section 508, EU's EN 301 549, AODA, Canada's Standard on Accessibility).

Top level executive report view and issue drill down for content and QA managers.

Test content in the production environment prior to publishing.

Track the "compliance health" of all your web properties and the performance of your entire organization against compliance goals.

The web is a primary method for delivering information to customers, constituents, patients, partners, employees, shareholders and more. However, your ever-growing team of content contributors are unlikely to be experts in web accessibility. You probably have more hidden risk than you realize and it's growing exponentially every day as content is added, uploaded and changed.

Make Your Web Content Accessible

How many users with disabilities turn away from your websites or web applications due to accessibility issues? You could be alienating as much as 20% of your employees, customers and prospects. Automating web accessibility compliance with applicable standards including WCAG, Section 508, the EU's EN 301 549, AODA and Canada's Web Accessibility Standard, to name a few, can increase participation while reducing costs and the chance of litigation.

Compliance Sheriff helps make all web content accessible by every person in every place, every time.
